PASTOR'S WIFE WILL FIGHT HIS DIVORCE

Dr. George D. Adams of Mount Vernon Began Secret Action Year Ago.

SHE FILES HER DENIAL

Marital Troubles of Pair Had Been Guarded to Avoid a Scandal.

Stephen G. Williams was named as referee yesterday in the Supreme Court to hear testimony and report in the divorce action brought by the Rev. Dr. George D. Adams, pastor of one of the largest churches in Westchester county, against Mrs. Ina M. C. Adams. The first papers in the case were served on November 24, 1919, but the litigation was kept secret, and the complaint has not yet been placed upon the court files. Dr. Adams is pastor of the First Baptist Church of Mount Vernon. His attorney is Charles Caldwell, a member of the first papers in the case were served on November 24, 1919, but the litigation was kept secret, and the complaint has not yet been placed upon the court files.

Dr. Adams attended last night a revival meeting held by Gypsy Smith, the evangelist, in a tent on Park avenue. Mount Vernon. He became agitated when asked to make a statement regarding the case.

"You seem to be very anxious for news," he said. "Please don't bother me now. I have nothing to say."

Mrs. Adams was formerly pastor of a church in Philadelphia. A Mount Vernon clergyman said last night that rumors had been going about regarding the action for divorce, but efforts had been made to avoid scandal. Dr. Adams has received many messages of sympathy, it is said.

BOWLEY DENIES PART IN FIGHT ON TOBACCO

Says Lord's Day Alliance Has But One Object.

The Lord's Day Alliance is not linked up with a campaign to prevent the use of cigarettes and other forms of tobacco, according to the Rev. H. L. Bowley, secretary.

"Any statements made to that effect are absolutely false," he declared yesterday. "We have our hands full without undertaking an alliance with an anti-cigarette campaign."

"Because we are against commercializing the Lord's day we are going to seek the repeal of the State motion picture bill and the State baseball bill. We are against Sunday movies, vaudeville and commercialized sports, but we are not interested in a campaign to forbid the use of tobacco."

BLUE LAWS CALLED JOKE; WILL NOT PASS CONGRESS

Many Members See No Reason for Aiding Professional Reformers—Get Entirely Too Much Publicity, Is General View in Capital.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD, New York, Dec. 2.

The unanimous opinion of numerous Representatives in Congress interviewed to-day by THE NEW YORK HERALD was that the proposed blue Sunday and other reform measures have no chance of being passed by Congress. Many of the Senators and Representatives said they considered the whole programme a joke and that it has not been taken seriously enough in the past to merit comment.

Passage of the measures is considered such a ridiculous impossibility by many of the members that they declined to make any statement along this line, believing that any comment might create the impression that they were taking the movement seriously.

Virtually all members interviewed have just returned from their districts, and they said they noticed no demand for the passage of the extreme measures among their constituents. The general comment was that there was no reason at all for giving the professional reformers so much publicity and creating the impression that some action might be taken by Congress.

No one could be found in either branch of Congress who intends to make an aggressive fight for the passage of any of the measures, and chairmen of the committees that would consider the proposed bills have received no requests for hearings.

No Chance, Says Clark.

Representative Champ Clark, Democratic leader, who has been in Congress nearly twenty-six years, was asked about the chances for the reform legislation.

"It hasn't got a chance, as every one knows, or ought to know," he replied. "I am certain that no action will be taken on the extreme measures proposed."

RUM AND DRUG RING EXPOSED ON BORDER

Scores Arrested, Smuggled Goods Recovered in Winnipeg Crime Crusade.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD, WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 1.—Many smuggled automobiles, some of them stolen, vast quantities of liquor and other smuggled goods have been seized, scores of arrests have been made and numerous rummen caught with revolvers have been convicted in various parts of Manitoba in a campaign conducted during the last three weeks on the international boundary by Federal officers of the Customs Department, Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the provincial police.

Tons of thousands of dollars have been collected in duties and penalties upon smuggled cars. Pistol battles have been common in the effort to break up a well organized whiskey and smuggling ring operating between Manitoba and points in the United States. Police reported progress in their attempt to break up the liquor and drug running ring.

Manitoba police officials drove home their campaign of cleaning up liquor traffic throughout Manitoba yesterday by arresting three persons, two of them former employees of the liquor law enforcement department, on charges of attempting to bribe police officers. Warrant are out for twenty or more persons and further arrests are expected.

These arrests are believed to be the spearhead of a drive against a gigantic crime ring which have been operating with headquarters in Winnipeg for the last year. It may involve a score of higher ups who are said to be responsible for rum and drug running between the prairie provinces and the United States which has amounted to hundreds of thousands of dollars every month.

The men arrested are M. L. McPhail, former chief temperance officer for Winnipeg; Joseph Beaudry, former employee under McPhail, and Sam Steinberg. They were charged with attempting to bribe police officers and were admitted to $25,000 bail each. The immediate charge for which McPhail, Beaudry and Steinberg were arrested concerns an alleged attempt to "fix" a liquor checker so that 22,000 cases of liquor might enter the province without knowledge of the heads of the law enforcement department. The liquor was destined for points in North Dakota and Minnesota. Col. Rattray, Commissioner of the Provincial Police, said.

Not Like Dry Movement.

"There is no popular demand for them as there was in the case of prohibition," said Representative Clark. "I wish some one would tell me when Congress will be able to complete the enactment of such important measures as revenue and tariff revision," said Representative Leader Mondell, when asked if there was any possibility of action on the reform bills.

"I have found no one in Congress who is taking these proposals seriously," said Representative Gard (Ohio). "Of course there is no chance of any of the bills becoming law. Some of them would be declared unconstitutional as soon as they were enacted."

CLUB WOMEN HELP DR. HANCOCK'S WIFE

Affidavits Filed in Answer to Husband's Suit for Annulment of Marriage.

Many noted club women were called upon as character witnesses for Dr. E. G. Hancock, 12 East Thirty-first street, in an answer he filed yesterday in the Supreme Court. Her husband, Dr. Charles R. Hancock, 17 East Thirty-eighth street, is suing for an annulment of their marriage upon the ground that she misrepresented the facts about her first marriage and for an injunction to restrain her from making alleged derogatory remarks against him.

Dr. Hancock married the defendant by Mary Garrett Hay, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Helen Varick Boswell, Miss Mary B. Cleveland, Ellen McBride Brown, Frances Ward Carpenter, Edith Cockcroft Woyard, Gertrude Beesley, Dr. William Van V. Hayes and Dr. W. H. Katzenbach, attesting her good character and conduct.

Dr. Hancock was physician in charge of the Children's Clinic of the New York Dispensary. This was just a year after Harry C. Thompson, her first husband, had secured a divorce from her in Montana on the ground of desertion. Dr. Hancock declares that his wife told him she had a son in the West, but that he was abandoned later when the son proved to be a grown man now 23 years old.

In applying for alimony, pending the trial, Mrs. Hancock said that her second husband was very affectionate until she became ill and had an X-ray taken which showed that her heart and blood vessels were enlarged.

"I came near putting you out of business when I saw these heart plates," she quotes him as having said.

Mrs. Hancock declares that her husband confessed he was in love with a Miss Bolton and would be pleased to have his wife go to Reno and get a divorce.

"If you get a divorce I will support you handsomely, but will leave you if you don't," she says he told her.

In his complaint Dr. Hancock accuses his wife of showing fondness for one Agostini. Mrs. Hancock denies this.

The plaintiff denies that he uses intoxicants, as his wife alleges, or has made any threats against her or that he told her he was in love with another woman.

Justice Gleason granted $125 a month alimony to Mrs. Hancock.

KIND TO GOATS; FINED $5,320.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Dec. 1.—For keeping a mother goat and two kids in the passenger's living quarters, Ernest Monro, the owner of the Cape Verde packet schooner William H. Draper has been fined $5,320 by customs officials, and has been ordered to pay $4,320 more for other alleged infractions of regulations. He has appealed to the Secretary of Labor.

In explanation of the goats in the cabin he asserts that the weather was cold when the packet was coming into port, the kids and their mother on the suggestion of a passenger were taken below.

POLICE SUPPRESS $500,000 THEFTS

15 Robberies of Recent Date in Private Residences Not Made Public.

The principal developments in the crime situation in New York yesterday were the unearthing of fifteen burglaries hitherto not reported by the Police Department, in which the bandits obtained loot valued at about $500,000, and the finding of former inspector Dominick Henry's automobile after it had been missing a year. One of the fifteen burglaries was in the home of F. H. Morris in 23 Madison avenue, opposite the home of J. P. Morgan. Insurance companies reported that the goods stolen consisted chiefly of jewelry.

Another unreported robbery took place at the home of Joseph Shoncut, an auctioneer, at 49 West 12th street. Mr. Shoncut tired of the police silence yesterday and admitted the robbers got about $500 worth of jewelry. Other thefts were committed in private homes and in loft buildings.

Dominick Henry's automobile was found in a garage in Third street, Long Island City. No arrests were made, owing to statements of the garage people that they had bought the car in good faith. Mr. Henry was notified to come to headquarters to get his car. The car was stolen several times while he was in the department.

A safe was blown in the Dyckman branch of the Sheffield Farms Company, Inc., at 18 Dyckman street early yesterday morning, and $1,000 in cash stolen.

The instructions to police captains, issued from headquarters stated that a booklet would soon be placed in their hands giving facts to show the police are guarding the city well.

Four boys were arrested for a series of alleged burglaries between Forty-second and Fifty-ninth streets along Sixth avenue. They were taken to Children's Court, and will be arraigned Saturday. Flushing burglars resumed operations yesterday forenoon, removing $500 in cash and jewelry from the home of Theodore Van Thadon, at 75 Linden avenue. Mrs. Van Thadon had slipped out to do some shopping.

Three men employed in the baggage room of the Pennsylvania Railroad were held in $1,500 bail each on a charge of stealing baggage valued at $25,000. They were Joseph Nadherny, 314 East Fifty-fourth street, Richard Hackett, 207 East Fifty-fifth street, and John J. Wesley, 320 East Fifty-fourth street.
